PAY TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF LEE

Confederate Veterans Enjoy Banquet Last Night at Lee Camp Hall

E. WARFIELD PRESIDES

Speeches by Rev. Dr. Regester, Rev. Dr. Morton, Capt. Beattie, J. Y. Williams and J. H. Trimyer.

Forty guests last night sat down to the banquet given in honor of the birthday of Gen. Robert E. Lee given to the members of R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, and a few special guests by Adjutant Edgar Warfield, Sr. Only about twenty-five of those in attendance were veterans, death in recent years having laid a heavy hand on the wearers of the gray.

Adjutant Warfield presided and acted as toastmaster. Mr. Warfield related that Lee Camp had decided this year not to give a banquet and that rather than see the birthday of the famous Confederate chieftain go without the annual banquet he decided to give one himself and he added that it had been his fondest hope to entertain the veterans.

Blessing was invoked by Rev Dr. E. V. Regester.

The toastmaster introduced E. C. Graham, past commander of the camp, who read Gen. Lee's farewell address.

Adjutant Warfield announced that Representative R. Walton Moore former Congressman Charles C. Carlin, Mayor Thos. A. Fisher, Rev. Dr. J. W. Duffey, Charles W. Mander, past commander E. H. O'Brien and Joshua Thomas, the latter of Baltimore, had either notified him or sent letters of regret at their inability to attend. Letters written by some were read by Mr Warfield.

The first speaker of the evening was Rev. Dr. E. V. Regester, pastor of the M E. Church South. He declared that Robert E. Lee is not only honored among the soldiers of the scuth, but among all classes. Continuing he said: "Unselfish sacrifice and heroism characterized his action. The world honors him not only as a great soldier but because of the purity of his character. No one could put a finger of blemish on the character of this man. He not only led armies of the south to many victories as history records, but he established character as the glory of manhood.

"They speak of the cause as the 'Lost Cause' The cause for which they fought and died of one of the glories of humanity; we morn no lost cause but rather rejoice that the scuth taught the world those finer traits, and showed the noble gentle spirit of Robert E. Lee.

"Surely we should rejoice for the world is coming to see that in those days the cause of the south was a righteous one.

Concluding the speaker expressed his appreciation to Mr. Warfield. The youth he declared was dear to Mr. Warfield's heart as was also the sweet memories of the man whom we honor tonight.

Rev. Dr. W. J. Morton, rector of Christ Episcopal Church was the next speaker. All present he said endorsed the action of Mr Warfield and he hoped all would be able to celebrate the birthday of Gen. Lee for many years to come. The speaker referred to the thinning of the ranks of the veterans. He said he noticed the absence of two members, G. William Ramsay and John R. Zimmerman.

The speaker said that with the thinning out of the ranks new responsibilities come, and they are the principals for which the Confederacy stood which can neevr die. Continuing he said "When the country has no men who are not willing to stand up for principals then the end of the republic is in sight."

Material for history, he said, should be preserved and he suggested that the portrait of Gen Lee should adorn the walls of the library at West Point. The speaker favored creating a spirit of truthfulness in history and said that the late Miss Mary Custis Lee had told him that Bradford's "Lee the American" was equal to any written on General Lee.

Dr Morton said the greatest thing Lee did after the surrender was his refusal to let his name be used by an insurance society. Before the soapstone aisles were placed in Christ Church the speaker said that he had observed that the carpet in front of the pew of General Lee was worn more rapidly than the carpet in front of General Washington's pew. He accounted for this because the majority of the visitors to Christ Church lingered longer at the pew of Lee than of Washington.

Concluding the speaker asserted that we don't want America to fall behind the standards set by Washington and Lee who were not only patriots but also Christian gentlemen.

A number of interesting war reminiscenses were given by Capt. Fountain Beattie who served in Mosby's command.

Others who spoke included Julian Y. Williams, J. H. Trimyer, after which Mrs. George T. Klipstein gave a personal invitation to all present to attend the "Evening with the Confederacy" which will be given tonight at Lee Camp Hall.

The banquet was served by the United Daughters of the Confederacy and there was an elaborate menu. The hall and table were prettily decorated for the event. The Confederate flag was displayed throughout the hall and also the Virginia and United States flags. The table was decorated with evergreens cut flowers and there were carnations and a souvenir confederate flag for each guest. Candlebras furnished the light for the banquet table.

The menu follows:

Oyster Cocktail
Roast Turkey Fried Oysters
Cranberry Sauce
Chicken Salad Cold Slaw
Pickles
Banquet Rolls Hot Biscuits

BATHING BEAUTIES ARE HERE

When Jesse L. Lasky, the now famous film producer first started producing shows in the east (long ere the picture game had budded) he had associated with him Bothwell Browne, the noted woman impersonator who is appearing tonight in conjunction with the Mack Sennett Bathing Girls at the Ingomar Theatre.

Browne made the trip to London with Mr. Lasky and produced one of the first famous Lasky revues on the other side and now we find him the outstanding feature of the new Sennett super-comedy, "Yandee Doodle in Berlin."

TURK, DENIED TWO WIVES, REFUSES TO WED AT ALL

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Abu Nardin, attired in his best fez and reddest sash, appeared at the marriage license window in the county building yesterday, and, with a merry laugh announced:

"I get married today. I want two blanks."

"Why two blanks?" asked the clerk.

"I marry Emma and Bessie," replied Abu. "I have promised them both."

"You can only marry one," said the clerk.

Abu flushed redder than his sash. He let loose a torrent of words, on the clerk which conveyed the idea that liberty in this country was not what it was cracked up to be. In Stamboul, he said, he could marry as many Emmas and Bessies as he liked. The clerk's argument that this was not Stamboul did not calm the irate Turk. He shuffled away in high dudgeon, threatening as he left, "I not get married at all."

DRY LAW AND DECALOGUE

Kramer Tells People Will Take to Prohibition as to Ten Commandments

New York, Jan. 20.—The prohibition amendment was likened to the Decalogue yesterday by John F. Kramer Federal Prohibition Enforcement commissioner, in an address at the annual meeting of New York clergymen under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League.

"The passions, the appetites and the desires of men," he said, "made it necessary for the promulgation of the Ten Commandments now embodied in Holy Writ. Notwithstanding the fact that the commandments and our criminal laws interfere with men's passions, appetites and desires, yet they still stand and are obeyed by the great mass of the American people. So I am sure it would be under the Federal Prohibition Amendment and the laws enacted thereunder.

Discovery of the deaths was made by a butcher who noticed that a bottle of milk, left on the front porch at 8:45 o'clock had not been taken in. He investigated and found the entire family suffocated. Officials of the gas company said the gas came from a break in a main twelve feet from the Kelly home, followed the house service pipes and flooded up from the basement.

A pet terrier was dead in the basement.

THE BANQUET LAST NIGHT

The survivors of the many Alexandrians who left their homes in 1861 and cast their lot with the late Southern Confederacy—and few in number are they now—gathered in Lee Camp Hall last night, anniversary of the birth of their great captain, Robert E. Lee. A few invited guests were present, and all realized that it was good for them to have been there. The feast had been prepared by the Women of the Confederacy, and their handiwork was never better manifested.

The banquet had been given by Mr. Edgar Warfield, Sr., one of the deans of the small number of Confederate veterans in our midst who are still able to respond to roll call.

The speeches, mostly impromptu, came from the soul. There were no formalities and the affair was of a different nature from reunions and banquets given by R. E. Lee Camp in bygone years. Every man felt at home from the fact that there were no speakers of national fame present. The company was composed of Alexandrians, or gentlemen well known in our community.

Many recollections of former banquets given by the camp came to mind last night as our eyes scanned the gathering There were broad gaps in the ranks. We recalled speeches made at similar gatherings in the early nineties by the late Doctor Bedford Brown, George Duffe, Captain S. B. Davis and others long since passed over the river.

Several prominent Alexandrians who had been invited to be present were unable to respond and sent letters of regret. This was their misfortune, as all who were on hand left refreshed in soul by what they heard and saw.

The commendable purpose of the reunion and banquet was to honor the memory of Robert E. Lee, who was born 113 years ago.

It is difficult at present to say anything original concerning the truly great man. An exchange, however, has the following which we will affirm.

"One of the greatest of modern military commanders, whose equal not even the most tremendous of wars could produce, we render homage to him not so much because of his moral greatness, his splendid simplicity of character, the unstained beauty of a manhood that seemed to come fresh from the hand of God, the knightly heart that was as tender as that of a woman, the gentle breeding that made him akin to men of every class and every creed. A peer in history's house of peers, a soldier without a stain on his shield, a gentleman true in word and deed to the finest title known among men, a Christian who made the name sacred, even to scoffers, every American can thank Heaven today for the perpetual inspiration of an example at once so human, so noble, so unselfish and so pure as that of Robert Edward Lee."

THE SILENT BOYCOTT

Over forty years ago the late A. T. Stewart, dry goods king of New York, who owned a fashionable hotel in Saratoga, became incensed at the conduct of certain members of the Israelitish race, and gave orders that no Jews would in the future be accommodated at the hostelry. Many of Stewart's dry goods customers were of the Hebrew race and resided in all sections of the country.

Without any brass band demonstrations they determined to silently boycott the merchant. Stewart died soon after this incident, and his executor continued the business. It proved unsatisfactory, however, and later John Wanamaker took charge of the Stewart stores in New York. The silent boycott had brought its results. It is suggested that many evils, among them profiteering, might be diminished more effectively by this silent boycott. We must have food and clothing and shelter. But when we pay for these things without discrimination we encourage high prices. It is not essential to buy the most expensive kinds of food or clothing or to pay the highest rents. In other words, the public is made up of individuals, and individual action, of little importance in itself, may thus go far to remedying many an abuse.

RETURN OF THE "FLU"

The reappearance of what is called "Spanish influenza," is naturally causing alarm in the United States The raging of this terrible malady during the latter part of 1918 will long be remembered in Alexandria, and the announcement of medical men later that it would reappear last year caused no little apprehension. The year passed, however, without the fulfillment of the forecast, which proved a great relief to the anxious, but ere the first month of the new year has passed away cases of "flu" are being multiplied in many cities.

An evident increase of influenza throughout the nation was characterized as "very slight," in a statement issued yesterday by Surgeon General Rupert Blue, head of the United States Public Health Service The cases all show a mild aspect of the malady, Blue said. He emphasized that the situation is not alarming, if proper precautionary measures are taken by local health officials and the public generally. He appealed to all health officials to isolate patients and asked the public to follow these rules:

"1.—Don't cough and sneeze in public places without covering your nose and mouth with a handkerchief

"2. Avoid use of common towels and drinking cups."

Influenza cases continue to multiply in Chicago. The city health department listed 1,789 new patients in 48 hours. Influenza deaths in the same period numbered 16. Pneumonia at the same time caused fifty deaths with three hundred new cases registered.

Seven deaths from influenza were reported to the New York city health department yesterday, making 10 since Friday. The number of cases now prevalent was estimated at 400, 90 of which were reported today. Thirty-six deaths from pneumonia were also reported today, making a total of 68 since Friday. The number of new cases reported was 116.

Many cases of influenza have been reported in Havana city, but no authoritative statistics are available. A newspaper report states that 1,000 cases have been found.

THE CASE OF THE EX-KAISER

"The former Emperor of Germany deserves punishment far more than Napoleon ever did, as the Baltimore Sun says. "He was in supreme command of the German people. He was the dominating spirit in the Teutonic alliance. Austria would not have dared to push Serbia to the wall without his encouragement. There would have been no difficulty in securing her assent and that of Russia and France to the conciliatory conference proposed by the British Foreign Minister. His impatient comments on the disposition of Germany's Ambassador at Vienna to make concessions that might have prevented war furnish only part of the conclusive chain of evidence that he wished and willed the ruinous conflict.

"Nor is his responsibility eliminated by the fact that Bismarck had started Germany on the road to empire and conquest before the Emperor had come to the throne. He disagreed with Bismarck about other things, and he could have mapped out a new road for himself. He put Bismarck out, not because he disapproved of his ideas, but because he was determined to be supreme boss.

It is too late for him to plead not guilty and to place responsibility on others. By every principle of moral and criminal law William of Hohenzollern can be held to a personal accountability."

VALEDICTORY

(Communicated)

When the friends of the Prohibition Commissioner moved the joint caucus to pass by the nomination for that office it was a frank recognition of the handwriting on the wall.

The Governor has given voice to the overwhelming sentiment of Virginia. The people of this state are heartily tired of paying Peter's Pence. The sophism that this office is self-supporting and a state asset deceives nobody. The revenue arising through the enforcement of the prohibition laws must be debited with the expense of maintaining the prohibition department.

The talk of flying in the face of forty thousand majority is empty twaddle. The people of Virginia never voted for the establishment of a prohibition department. The immortal forty thousand were promised a quart a month and otherwise bamboozled.

The compromise proposition is a dilatory plea. Mr. Peters and his friends are planning a strategic retreat.

A committee will be appointed to investigate this department and startling disclosures are expected.

Virginia's experiment in prohibition enforcement by a commissioner has been a flat failure. The establishment of this inquisition is every where recognized to have been a mistake. The clouds are gathering over it black and minatory. Its minions are being tried in the various courts of this state for murder and other felonies. Their action has brought the good name of law and order into reproach.

The abolition of the office of prohibition commissioner will be welcome by all citizens of the Old Dominion who cherish her traditions and take pride in her good name.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Declaring that the people of Virginia are entirely antagonistic to the eighteenth amendment to the constitution, John W. Read, of Newport News, has declared himself a candidate for lieutenant governor of Virginia, on the antidry platform. Read is editor of the Hampton Roads Magazine.

State Senator Patrick H. Drewry, of Petersburg, will be the Fourth District's representative in Congress as the successor to Congressman Walter A. Watson, who died in Washington, December 24. Unopposed, Senator Drewry was yesterday declared the Democratic party nominee, which is equivalent to election. Drewery is a lawyer and has represented Petersburg in the State Senate for several years.

Six negro prisoners confined in the Petersburg jail attempted to make their escape Sunday night by sawing the bars of the cage in which they were confined, but through one of the trustys, who informed Jailer Thomas C. Harris, the plot was foiled. The terms of the prisoners ranged from 5 to 30 years in the State penitentiary. The plan of the prisoners, it is said, was to saw the bars of the cage so as to enable them to gain access to the corridor, where Reads and Jackson, two of those held, were to begin fighting, thus attracting Jailer Harris to the scene, who was to have been assaulted by the prisoners and his pistol and keys taken from him. The six prisoners will be taken to the penitentiary at once.

KILLED BY POISON GAS

Neighbors Discover Woman Dead on Floor and Husband in Bed

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 20.—James H Schlegelmilch, aged 76, a carpenter and his wife Elizabeth, aged 72, widely known residents of Florin, this county were found dead in their home yesterday morning by neighbors. They had been asphyxiated by coal gas from a kitchen stove.

After the aged couple had been missing for more than two days neighbors forced an entrance to their house. Mrs. Schlegelmilch was found on the kitchen floor and her husband was dead in bed. It is supposed that the former had gone to the kitchen for medicine and was prostrated before she could return and that the others then made their way to the bed room.

THREE DEAD, FOUR INJURED

Civilian Dormitory at Edgewood Arsenal is Destroyed

Baltimore, Jan. 20.—Three men are dead and four others seriously injured as the result of a fire Sunday in a civilian dormitory at Edgewood Arsenal, destroying the building and endangering other buildings where large amounts of explosives were stored.

The bodies were burned beyond recognition, and it was not until yesterday morning that their identification was established. Four other men are in the hospital at Edgewood, but it is thought that their injuries will not prove fatal.

The building was a one-story frame structure, housing about 100 civilian employes. The rapidity with which the flames spread is puzzling those in charge of an investigation at the arsenal. Col. Page stated that five minutes after the alarm was sounded the flames were beyond control, and the work of the fire-fighters was directed to the protection of other buildings containing explosives.

LEOPARD CANNOT CHANGE SPOTS

Mr. Dodson, the "Liver Tone" Man, Tells the Treachery of Calomel.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynimite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel billious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild-cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

SNAG IN TREATY PARLEY

First Major Dispute Comes On Voting Power in The League

Washington, Jan. 20.—Senate leaders working on compromise reservations to the peace treaty yesterday reported reaching their first major dispute—the question of voting power in the League of Nations of the British colonies and dominions. On this reservation, the fourteenth of the Lodge program, the Democratic and Republican members of the bipartisan committee were said to be far apart, with no immediate prospect of adjustment. On minor details of other less important reservations yesterday's meeting, it was stated, resulted in some progress toward agreement.

Most of yesterday's session of the bipartisan committee was spent in discussing the colonial voting reservation and adjournment was taken until tomorrow, when its consideration will be resumed.

Leaders of both groups last night agreed that the conferences probably would continue for some time, but with the outcome still in doubt.

Chairman Lodge yesterday called a meeting of the Foreign Relations Committee for Wednesday to consider the resolution of Senator King, Utah, proposing a declaration by the Senate favoring award of Thrace, except Constantinople, to Greece

Another brief but spirited tilt occurred in the Senate when Senator Hitchcock presented final figures in the recent college vote on the peace treaty and expressed satisfaction that a large majority was against what he called "the destructive Lodge reservations." He also commented on the size of the vote for unqualified ratification, for which, the Nebraska Senator said, the Democrats "are ready to stand."

Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, replied that the college vote was 2 to 1 against unqualified ratification, while Senator McCormick, Republican, Illinois, said the League to Enforce Peace intervened in the college referendum by furnishing speakers and material for speeches.

Referring to the college vote, Senator Nelson, Republican, Minnesota, inquired: "Are we to exercise our own judgment or be mere dummies?

The discussion ended when Senator Brandegee, Republican, Connecticut presented a protest from the China Society of the United States against the Shantung award, adding that he would refrain from submitting the Shantung question to a "straw vote of college boys of the country."

STEAMERS TO THE RESCUE

Cedric Takes Passengers From Crippled Transport Powhatan

Boston, Jan. 20.—The White Star liner Cedric, reported by radio last night that she had taken off the passengers from the army transport Powhatan, disabled 200 miles southeast of Halifax, and was "bringing them in." The Cedric is bound from Liverpool for New York.

New York, Jan. 20.—Lightless and heatless, with her engines dead as the result of a leak which flooded her boilers, the army transport Powhatan, which left here Friday for Antwerp was struggling last night in a storm swept sea about 200 miles southeast of Halifax. On board are 271 army and civilian passengers, including 11 women and 8 children, and a crew of more than 200 men.

Wireless S O S calls sent out late Sunday afternoon telling of the vessel's plight have brought around her a half dozen or more transatlantic steamers ready to give aid if it is possible. Waiting at Halifax and northern ports of the United States are tugs and destroyers with steam up ready to put to sea if they are needed.

Late wireless advices, however, state that the leak in the ship's hull has been controlled, and that other than discomfort from the cold the passengers are all right The White Star liner, Cedric, one of the vessels to answer the S O S call, is standing by waiting for the weather to moderate so that the passengers can be taken off while the British steamer Bardic and other vessels are ready to take the transport in tow to assist her into Halifax, the nearest port.

WOMAN FOUND FROZEN

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Mary Knapp, aged 78 years, who lived alone was found frozen to death yesterday in her home on the East Mountain. Investigation by the authorities lead them to believe that the aged woman became ill Saturday and retired.

The fire in her home on the mountain went out and she was unable to help herself.

EDITORIAL

It has always been the policy of this store to refrain from advertising sales when we felt that there was no cause for them and consequently they have not been frequent.

We are therefore forced to discontinue quite a few and we wish to announce that on these numbers, we have greatly reduced the prices, some below cost; and we are confident that you will find here bargains of exceptional merit.

FINDS BABY IN HIS GRIP

Infantile Wails Startle Resident of Connecticut

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 20.—When Robert H. Rohland returned from New York he dropped his traveling bag in his room and forgot about it until yesterday morning, when infantile wails caused him to investigate.

In the bag was an eight weeks' old baby and a note which said:

"I have no friends, nobody cares and so I leave him behind. I am leaving for California, so goodbye and God bless my baby boy. From the heart of a broken blossom."

Rohland believes the bag was substituted for his own bag while he purchased his railroad ticket.

Supreme Court Grants Right to Rhode Island to be Heard

The Supreme Court of the United States is to pass upon the validity of the prohibition amendment to the Constitution.

Chief Justice White yesterday granted permission to the State of Rhode Island to institute original proceedings to test the constitutionality of the amendment and to enjoin its enforcement in that State but when the decision may be expected is a matter of conjecture as the Chief Justice failed to fix a time for the hearing of arguments.

Attorney General Rice, of Rhode Island, who filed the motion for the writ, also submitted briefs alleging that the amendment interferes with state police rights and is in violation of the Fifth Amendment. The brief also held the amendment to be usurpatory, unconstitutional and void."

Rhode Island was one of the States which refused to ratify the amendment, and the motion was filed pursuant to a resolution recently passed by the State legislature.

Solicitor General King yesterday announced he would soon file a motion asking that the Supreme Court dismiss the case because of lack of jurisdiction.

The court was also asked yesterday to expedite the consideration of appeals by George S. Hawke, of Cincinnati, to determine the validity of the Ohio constitutional referendum amendment.

EGG DID NOT CURE

Harrisburg Woman Charged With Attempting Fake Treatment

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 20.—A fresh egg buried in the ground and watchful waiting did not effect a cure for which Walter Cannon paid $35 and a suit of equal value in advance. He charged Mary Georgevick with working a fake cure on him when she was arraigned in police court.

Cannon said he had been ill and was advised to go to the woman for treatment. She offered a complete cure for cash and a suit of clothing he was wearing. He gave both and she told him the secret of the egg.

He swore he was unimproved and felt that he had not been treated fairly, although he had followed all directions from paying money to watching the place where the egg was interred.

TANKER GOES ASHORE

Crew Leaves Steam Barge Lost in Snowstorm off Cape May

Cape May, N. J., Jan. 20.—During the heavy snow storm, which prevailed along the coast yesterday, the steam barge Karl Anna in charge of Captain Potter, missed her bearings and went ashore in Turtle Gut Inlet. She is a water tanker about 150 feet long, with a capacity of 250 tons.

The barge was traveling light from New York to Norfolk, Va. She had a crew of about twelve men, who immediately left her. Both the Two Mile Beach and Holly Beach coast guard crews are standing by her. It is feared she will rack herself to pieces on the bay.

PUTTING ON THE FACTORY FINISH

Some shoe repairers do good work repairing a shoe but fall down on the shaping and finishing of it. That's where we shine. We learned our trade where shoes are made and finished in the first place, and so we know how to add that last touch which makes or mars a shoe. When you get our shoe, you'll say, "Looks just like a new one."

I believe I can truthfully say that I haven't had a single dissatisfied customer. Indeed most of those to whom I have sold property, have assured me that they could have realized an immediate profit.

I have also apparently satisfied the seller as well, as there has never been a "hitch" of any kind, in any deal I have made.

Whether your desire is to buy or sell, consult me. I promise to transact your business with dispatch.
